TWENTY-NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME: 21st October 2018

TODAY'S READINGS:

Brother, sister, let me serve you...

One of the powerful qualities that shines out in Jesus' life was that of generous and loving service. We see it in the way He speaks and cares for people and in the steadfast way He does His Father's will. These examples all inspire and challenge us to ask ourselves how we treat one another. The generosity of Jesus is seen most clearly in the way He goes to the Cross to lay down His life to free us from slavery to sin. He never orders us into service, rather He shows us, and then invites us to do as He did: so we serve Him in serving others. St James and St John appear to get hold of the wrong end of the stick; it seems they wanted power and authority. That wasn't what Jesus was calling them to; no, He was calling, inviting, them to a life of sacrifice and service. We can make that mistake too. It's only when we make a genuine sacrifice for others that Jesus gives us the authority to call ourselves Christian. In the Kingdom of God authority comes only through service, never through power.

...let me be as Christ to you!

Today is World Mission Sunday and this year the campaign focuses on Ethiopia where the Menja Sisters help the poor families grow coffee to sell, and educate the children to help improve their livelihoods and future. Missio is the Pope's official charity and your prayers and donations on World Mission Sunday will support our Church family overseas.

Don't forget – the clocks go back one hour next weekend, 27th/28th October.
